The document was written for auctioneers

I think that the place where the events going to be held at is important and the time it's happening. Also what the benefits are.

I think this document was written for people to buy the buffalo.

This text helps to understand that it's a sale; It says "Those who were fortunate at purchasing Robes at the sale last year were well satisfied with the result."

Stuff was a lot cheaper than now. Also, people didn't have as much money now.

How long is the bull sale
